PICNICS, DANCES AND LUAUS MARK QUIET LABOR DAY

Banks and other business houses as well as the local courts, with the exception of the U. S. marshal's office, were closed today in observance of Labor Day. There was no public recognition of the occasion, and those persons who are generally at work bright and early on a Monday morning spent the day either out of town or quietly at home.

Various organizations, however, are celebrating with luaus, picnics or dances. In the National Guard armory this evening, the non-commissioned officers will give a dance. The affair will be informal, the music will be good and refreshments will be served. This is the first of a series of affairs which is being planned by the "non-coms" of the guard.

Down at Pearl Harbor the local members of the Builders' union are hosts at a picnic for their friends and relatives. Yesterday Court C. Mace, Ancient Order of Foresters, gave a picnic at the harbor which, though a day ahead of time, was in observance of Labor Day.

Baseball games are in progress at Athletic Park and Moiliili this afternoon.

Bright and early this morning, High Sheriff Jarrett mustered the inmates of Oahu prison in the prison yard and announced that the day would be given over to sports of various kinds, including a baseball game. The sheriff served refreshments during the day.

A. & B. PURCHASE YACHT ALBERS TO TAKE TO KUHULUI

Kahului harbor will soon boast a new cruiser-yacht, the Albers, which was purchased at Seattle on August 17 by Alexander & Baldwin from the Albers Brothers Milling Company for $5500.

The Albers, which was built 18 months ago at Seattle, has a length of 60 feet, a beam of 10 feet 6 inches and is equipped with a 40-horse-power four-cylinder engine. The boat will be used as a pleasure and business craft.

The Albers is now undergoing overhauling and repairs at the West Seattle plant of J. & W. She will be shipped to Kahului on one of the Matson Navigation Company's steamships in the near future.

FOOTLESS MAN WEDS INVALID IN WHEEL CHAIR

Miss Madeline Tucker, Daughter of Honolulu Man, for 28 Years Helpless, is Bride

Although an invalid who has not been out of a wheel chair for 28 years, Myra Madeline Tucker of Oakland, Cal., whose father, the late Dr. Samuel Tucker, was for several years head of the insane asylum in Honolulu, has been wedded and won, and the bridegroom is almost as unfortunate as the bride, for he is footless.

The couple were married in Oakland on August 24. The bridegroom, who is Robert Richard Allen, lost his feet in "breaking trail" from Alleghany to Nevada City in 1912.

The blind brother of the bridegroom first introduced the couple. Miss Tucker early realized Allen's need for "better feet," and purchased him the most modern kind of artificial ones in return, Allen used them by meeting her and riding her about in her wheel chair. Thus they became acquainted and thus they fell in love.

"The newly-weds settled down in the bride's home to live on the income she receives from Hawaiian plantation stock given her several years ago by B. F. Dillingham, millionaire planter of Honolulu," says the San Francisco Examiner.

Reports circulated about town to the effect that Cpl. W. M. Alford of the 25th Infantry, under arrest for alleged illicit liquor selling, had "skipped out," leaving his bondsmen to pay the penalty, were contradicted today. Alford's case has been tried in "sections," that is, it was postponed several times. Saturday morning it again came up for trial and Alford was not present. Alford's attorney requested another continuance until September 9, but Deputy City Attorney Chillingworth asked for the forfeiture of the bail. Attorney Magoon, representing Alford, explained that Alford probably had missed his train from Schofield. At any rate Alford was seen standing at Fort and King streets Saturday-afternoon, it is said, and probably came to town on the next train after that one which would have brought him to police court on time.

"Last night at the volcano we witnessed the most awe-inspiring sight of our lives, and this morning it rained exactly as it does in dear old Oregon," said Ben Selling of Portland, Oregon, in a letter written from Hilo on August 7, according to the Portland Telegram.

Guests to the wedding of Miss Leonora Franca and Mr. Antonio S. Capellas fairly jammed the Catholic cathedral at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening. After the church ceremony a largely attended reception was given at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Franca on Laimi road, Nuuanu. Mr. and Mrs. Capellas left today on the Claudine to spend a week on Maui. They will also spend a week at Hilo before returning to Honolulu to reside.

The concert and dance given by the Kamehameha Alumni Association at the Phoenix hall last Saturday evening was attended by a large crowd. The Kamehameha instrumental club furnished the music for the dance. The individual prize to the best ticket seller went to E. K. Puni and the team that won the first prize for selling the most tickets was composed of John Fern, Rev. Akalo Akana, E. K. Puna, W. Napihas, H. Godfrey, Ed. Wongham, John Naiwi and Henry Kaeo.
